

The Club at Cordillera is the recreational and social centerpiece of the most extraordinary private mountain community in North America. From the Vail Valley floor to Cordillera's Summit Course, Tom Fazio, Hale Irwin, Dave Pelz and Jack Nicklaus have crafted four extraordinary golf courses, each with an award-winning clubhouse and its own special ambiance and culinary experience.

But there is so much more than golf. Within its thousands of acres, Cordillera has private Eagle River fishing, the acclaimed Spa, an indoor equestrian arena, miles of riding, hiking and Nordic ski trails, three tennis centers, five indoor and outdoor pools, four fitness facilities, a portal to a million acres of wilderness and a summer camp and Trailhead clubhouse for children. (Tom I would be careful of using the fishing and equestrian references since those are homeowner amenities and could be taken away at any time from our Club members.)

Cordillera is a community in progress, offering year-round opportunities to participate in clubs, classes, events, outings and tournaments, all in the company of the finest people in the world. Cordillera is truly life at its best.
